Dominieren Health and Safety is a professional health and safety solutions provider committed to creating safer, compliant, and more productive workplaces across South Africa. We partner with organizations of all sizes to develop practical and effective safety systems that not only meet legislative requirements but also enhance operational efficiency and protect what matters most – people.

We understand that workplace safety goes far beyond simply meeting legal obligations. It requires proactive planning, structured systems, continuous training, and strong leadership. Our approach focuses on prevention, preparedness, and continuous improvement, ensuring that hazards are identified early, risks are properly managed, and incidents are minimized before they occur.

Dominieren Health and Safety provides comprehensive occupational health and safety training, detailed risk assessments, professional safety file compilation and maintenance, compliance audits, incident investigations, policy development, contractor compliance management, and ongoing advisory support. We work closely with business owners, managers, supervisors, and safety representatives to implement practical solutions that align with South African health and safety legislation while maintaining productivity and operational excellence.

We believe that safety is not just a requirement – it is a responsibility shared at every level of an organization. By promoting accountability, strengthening safety awareness, and building structured safety management systems, we help businesses reduce workplace incidents, prevent costly disruptions, and create environments where employees can perform their duties with confidence.

At Dominieren Health and Safety, our mission is clear: to protect lives, ensure compliance, and empower organizations to operate responsibly, sustainably, and successfully in today's demanding work environments.
